

Jell's Park Outing 4th January 2011

What a relaxing day this was after the hustle and bustle of Christmas and New Year celebrations. The weather was perfect and those that managed to get there had a very enjoyable day.

A number of Humber's came out for the day - we ventured out in the 14/40 and it ran like a dream. We were sorry to find that Sylvia was too unwell to join us. We missed her and do hope that she is beginning to feel like her old self again.

BBQ's were lit and snags cooked while we chatted about our doings and of cars. Hugh had the forethought to bring the game of Kupps for outdoors and a number of us tested our skills in trying to beat the opposing side and be first to topple the king. A lot of laughs, not much cheating and some handy throwing of the wooden pieces gave victory to Hugh and I in one round and luck was with John and Fred in the second round. Everyone showed excellent sportsmanship and had fun into the bargain.

Although Jell's Park is quite extensive with paths winding in and around the trees to the lake and the different play/BBQ areas most of us were quite happy to relax under the trees and while away a few hours in each others company forgoing the walk to the café for delicious ice creams. Not so for Hugh and Jenny they had to have an ice cream. Hugh was seen to run after the ice cream truck but it would not stop. So they had to walk to the café.
